Why publish your dissertation in English? What are the practical steps to do, and not to do, when publishing a dissertation in English? What makes books different from dissertations? How do I get a publisher interested in my manuscript? What is the review process and what does it mean for my writing, and my Ph.D.? What permission do I need to use interviews, images, or maps? Why should I use reference software?

And why will it take up to two years?

All these questions and more will be answered on Monday, March 11, from 11:00 am - 12:30 pm in Boltzmannstr. 1, Room 003. You are also encouraged to send questions in advance for discussion to paul.talcott@fu-berlin.de
